The third quarter was marked by several notable market reversals, including rising oil prices and shifting leadership within domestic equities. Market leadership rotated among large-cap value, small-cap, and large-cap growth stocks, reflecting changing investor sentiment and economic expectations. Despite this volatility, the S&P 500 Index generated a solid 2.30% return, while small-cap stocks struggled, with the Russell 2000 Index declining 7.23%. International equity markets delivered mixed results, as modest gains in developed markets were partially offset by losses in emerging markets. Fixed income markets also faced significant headwinds during the quarter. Persistent inflationary pressures, Federal Reserve monetary policy, and increased Treasury issuance contributed to rising interest rates, with yields reaching levels not seen in more than two decades. The sharp increase in yields weighed heavily on bond prices, resulting in a 3.51% decline for the Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Bond Index. Overall, the quarter highlighted the challenges of an evolving economic environment, as shifting equity market leadership and rising interest rates created significant performance differences across asset classes.

Investment Strategy: Artemis Fund IV continues the strategy of Artemis's prior funds, aiming to build a diversified portfolio across product types and geographies by making and managing middle-market equity and debt investments in U.S. real estate and real estate-related businesses. The Fund targets undervalued, mispriced, underperforming, distressed, or overlooked opportunities that can be acquired below perceived market value, where Artemis can enhance value and mitigate risk through investment structuring and active asset management (renovating, repositioning, and re-leasing). It targets a net overall IRR of 14%–15% over the Fund's life, net of carry, fees, and expenses, with average equity commitments of around $30 million per deal — a middle-market "sweet spot" too small for larger institutional funds (less competition) yet beyond the reach of high-net-worth investors, where Artemis's institutional efficiency, speed, and all-cash closing capability provide an edge.

Investment Strategy: The investment strategy of each Series of the Fund will have a primary focus on private credit and specialty finance assets (which is expected to include real estate debt and other general debt and debt-related investments) with short to intermediate-term durations and often contractual cash flows. The Managing Member's goal is to preserve invested capital, and generate returns that have a low correlation to traditional public markets (although there can be no assurances that this goal will be realized). The Fund will target middle market opportunities in real estate debt and other general debt and debt-related transactions (including REO properties, and preferred equity, that would include debt-like characteristics). The Fund generally will not invest in traditional leveraged common equity positions in real estate; however, the Fund may acquire REO and similar non-traditional properties and may also take incidental or pledged equity positions in connection with certain loans in order to obtain supplemental collateral to enhance the strength of the primary credit investment, and/or to expedite any requisite foreclosure process with such loan for the benefit of the Fund. The primary focus of private credit and specialty finance assets (including real estate debt and other general debt and debt-related investments) will be to capitalize on gap, transitional, bridge, special situation and opportunistic financings that are time sensitive, complex, and that the Managing Member believes offer attractive risk-adjusted returns. Each Series of the Fund may also variously co-invest in opportunities originated by other investors where the overall investment opportunity is of the same or similar nature as the Series typically invests.

Fee information on this page is an illustrative estimate of management fees based on current reported portfolio values. Fee estimates do not reflect actual calculation methodologies or applicable carried interest.

Active Return - Arithmetic difference between the manager's performance and the designated benchmark return over a specified time period.

Alpha - A measure of the difference between a portfolio's actual performance and its expected return based on its level of risk as determined by beta. It determines the portfolio's non-systemic return, or its historical performance not explained by movements of the market.

Beta - A measure of the sensitivity of a portfolio to the movements in the market. It is a measure of the portfolio's systematic risk.

Consistency - The percentage of quarters that a product achieved a rate of return higher than that of its benchmark. Higher consistency indicates the manager has contributed more to the product's performance.

Distributed to Paid In (DPI) - The ratio of money distributed to Limited Partners by the fund, relative to contributions. It is calculated by dividing cumulative distributions by paid in capital. This multiple shows the investor how much money they got back. It is a good measure for evaluating a fund later in its life because there are more distributions to measure against.

Down Market Capture - The ratio of average portfolio performance over the designated benchmark during periods of negative returns. A lower value indicates better product performance

Downside Risk - A measure similar to standard deviation that utilizes only the negative movements of the return series. It is calculated by taking the standard deviation of the negative quarterly set of returns. A higher factor is indicative of a riskier product.

Excess Return - Arithmetic difference between the manager's performance and the risk-free return over a specified time period.

Excess Risk - A measure of the standard deviation of a portfolio's performance relative to the risk free return.

Information Ratio - This calculates the value-added contribution of the manager and is derived by dividing the active rate of return of the portfolio by the tracking error. The higher the Information Ratio, the more the manager has added value to the portfolio.

Public Market Equivalent (PME) - Designs a set of analyses used in the Private Equity Industry to evaluate the performance of a Private Equity Fund against a public benchmark or index.

R-Squared - The percentage of a portfolio's performance that can be explained by the behavior of the appropriate benchmark. A high R-Squared means the portfolio's performance has historically moved in the same direction as the appropriate benchmark.

Return - Compounded rate of return for the period.

Sharpe Ratio - Represents the excess rate of return over the risk free return divided by the standard deviation of the excess return. The result is an absolute rate of return per unit of risk. A higher value demonstrates better historical risk-adjusted performance.

Standard Deviation - A statistical measure of the range of a portfolio's performance. It represents the variability of returns around the average return over a specified time period.

Total Value to Paid In (TVPI) - The ratio of the current value of remaining investments within a fund, plus the total value of all distributions to date, relative to the total amount of capital paid into the fund to date. It is a good measure of performance before the end of a fund's life

Tracking Error - This is a measure of the standard deviation of a portfolio's returns in relation to the performance of its designated market benchmark.

Treynor Ratio - Similar to Sharpe ratio but utilizes beta rather than excess risk as determined by standard deviation. It is calculated by taking the excess rate of return above the risk free rate divided by beta to derive the absolute rate of return per unit of risk. A higher value indicates a product has achieved better historical risk-adjusted performance.

Up Market Capture - The ratio of average portfolio performance over the designated benchmark during periods of positive returns. A higher value indicates better product performance.
