Thursday at The DIA

Come join us for a special, free musical performance followed by a cookies and coffee reception in the amazing setting of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The Detroit Song Collective will provide a program of music for the season. If you prefer, you may use the time to visit as many of the more than 100 galleries the DIA offers that you can (no running in the museum 😊). If you choose to explore rather than listen to the concert you can still come back and join in on the cookies, coffee and conversation.

The choice is yours.

Space is limited, so register early for this wonderful and free experience.
